

TRIPS Transitional Resources, Intake & Placement Services

The TRIPS Center was founded in 2001. Its goal is to guide young adults on their path to independence. These young adults have become homeless and wish to live independently, but do not have the skills or knowledge to succeed on their own. TRIPS helps these young adults develop the skills and confidence needed to become responsible, productive members of the community, especially while coping with difficult circumstances and relationships.

TRIPS offers residential services to young adults ages 18-24 who need help transitioning to the responsibilities of adulthood and non-residential services to young adults ages 16 to 24 . Services are provided to pregnant, parenting and homeless young adults.

These services include:

- Educational assistance in completing high school or obtaining their General Equivalency Diploma (GED)
- Academic Opportunities at Collin County Community College
- Tutoring services
- Job training assistance
- Referrals to medical and community resources
- Training in parenting and independent living skills

The Nancy Boyd Home provides residential services to older teens and young adult men, from ages 18-24.

The Kay Goodman Home provides residential services to older teens and young adult women, from ages 18-24.

Named for our CITY House Founders, these programs offer services and support for teens and young adults transitioning into independent living in the community.
